THE DAILY WATCH

Borsho Boron Program

Pohela Boishakh, also known as Bengali New Year, marks the beginning of the traditional Bengali calendar. Celebrated with vibrant cultural events, colorful processions, and delicious traditional food, it's a time for joyous festivities and renewed hopes for the year ahead. On 18th March, AusIS held a Borsho Boron event to celebrate this occasion. It consisted of several cultural programs, mainly dance and song performances by the students of PYP and MYP.

CAS Fair

The students of DP-1 enriched the day of Borsho Boron on 18th of April with the CAS Fair, in which the students set up stalls selling delicious food, captivating stickers, face painting and henna designs as their product. The effort and success of the students were visibly present at the presentation of the stalls and the vibrant atmosphere of the event. The fair was organised to generate profit with the intent of donating it for a good cause.

Amina Bushra– Teaching Assistant Experience

Amina Bushra of DP-2 recently had the pleasant experience of working as a teaching assistant for MYP Year 5. She conducted an introductory lesson on the subject of Individuals and Societies, specifically on externalities in economics. It was an invigorating session for both the students and Amina alike. This was an amazing opportunity for Amina to teach others about topics she's interested in, and hone her communication skills.

ESS Internal Assessment Data Collection

On 29 April, DP Year 1 student Zunairah shared her experience on visiting the local tannery located at Savar, Dhaka for collecting her ESS IA data. She observed how the wastewater treatment from the tannery is processed at the Effluent Treatment Plant before releasing into the environment. She collected water from sewage areas and the nearby Turag river and explored about the whole process of leather making.

Earth Day Awareness Posters

Earth Day, celebrated annually on April 22nd, serves as a global reminder of our collective responsibility to protect and preserve our planet. This year, DP 1 took bold steps in order to commemorate Earth Day by raising awareness and inspiring positive change through creative initiatives. Our talented students created eye-catching posters and hoped to utilise the power of visual communication in order to spread environmental consciousness. DP 1's dedication to creating awareness through posters exemplifies their commitment to fulfilling their role as citizens of the world.
